

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—Some daydreams during a warm Indian summer afternoon:

We've often wondered why Dixon has not further exploited its historical background. A focal point of the Black Hawk war, the site of the old Galena trail ferry and a hundred-and-one intensely interesting items of historical nature would seem to make it a natural for the tourist trade.

The beautiful setting of Dixon and the entire area prompts our belief that it could be promoted, also for greater use as a summer haven for tired city dwellers.

WE'VE ALWAYS had a secret ambition to be a butcher or the proprietor of an old-time apothecary. The genuine warmth and friendliness we've observed in these establishments appeals to our nature. There never was a better scheme of trade promotion devised than the free, raw wincer our butcher passed out to the kids in our town. Maybe it's that memory that "arouses nostalgia for the good old days."

Absolutely the most despicable method of political campaigning is the use of economic pressure to persuade voters. Threatening the voter with loss of jobs, social security and pensions, if one or the other party is not brought into power, strikes below the belt in our democracy. Forcing of such allegiance, unfortunately, is attempted at all levels, both in private and public enterprise.

IN ALL MY newspaper experience in covering small cities and towns, the one dominant characteristic of them is that they want to grow larger. While this is a commendable American trait, some towns would do well to improve their quality, being doomed by economic and physical factors to remain as they are—a small American town. Improvement of educational facilities, cultivating a better climate for the upbringing of children, and the promotion of a more comfortable place to live should be their goal. In other words, they should mellow down and grow into a graceful adulthood.

THE NEWSPAPER doing one of the finest jobs of fair and complete election coverage in our estimation is the Christian Science Monitor. In a calm, quiet way the Monitor is living up to its tradition of presenting both sides of the argument as fairly and squarely as possible. Experienced American newspapermen can write them. Somehow the Monitor cuts through the clamor and in a dignified way gives a clear picture of the issues, the personalities and the conditions that figure in the campaign.

And, when space permits, they print the entire text of the political addresses, a notable way in our belief, to cover a campaign. Somehow the campaign takes on a different look when the hoopla is sliced away.

HOLLYWOOD columns, and a fairly recent innovation, saloon reporting by radio, leave us cold. By some license of "show business" they attempt to perpetrate the myth that people in the entertainment world enjoy some form of angelic status. The tip-off that they are lying in their teeth is their over-use of the adjectives, "wonderful," "lovely," "marvelous," and the most over-worked of all, "colossal." One of the most obnoxious of these saloon commentators is a Jack Igen (or Eigen), whose program from Chicago is an affront to the listener. C. J. C.

NAM Boss Sees 'Deal' In Coal

CLEVELAND—The president of the National Association of Manufacturers says "another deal apparently has been made in coal."

William J. Grede made that statement Friday night concerning the current coal strike, he departed from the text of a speech before a conference of the Associated Industries.

Without answering the question, Grede asked:

"Did John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers make a deal with President Truman in exchange for Lewis' current support and then abuse Truman's Wage Stabilization Board because they did their duty instead of his bidding?"

By "another deal," Grede said he meant the recent steel strike took place largely because "Truman and Phil Murray, president of the CIO-United Steelworkers refused to use the Taft-Hartley law."

The WSB, in the coal case, cut 4 cents from the $1.90 a day pay rate recently negotiated.

Battle-Wearry ROKs Capture Ridge Again

Fight With Cold Steel For Height

Reds Seize Other Peaks From Allies; Planes Bomb Forts

By STAN CARTER
SEOUL—(AP)—Battle-weary South Koreans fought yard by yard up the highest pinnacle on Sniper Ridge today and routed fresh Chinese Communist troops in a 4½-hour ordeal of cold steel, hot rifle fire and bursting grenades.

Then they drove on up the ridge toward the Yoke, a network of Red trenches and caves commanding the northern end of Sniper Ridge. Allied warplanes roared down on the Yoke, spilling armor-piercing bombs at the fortification network in an effort to open a chink in that stubborn Communist obstacle.

Driven off
Only seven hours earlier, the hard-bitten ROKs had pulled off Pinpoint Hill, highest peak on the ridge, under the onslaughts of two fresh Chinese battalions just arrived at the front.

Elsewhere on the flaming Central Front, the Reds held control of Pike's Peak, their last stronghold on Triangle Hill just west of Sniper. They beat off U. S. Seventh Division attacks Friday night and today. The Chinese also held Iron Horse Mountain, another strategic peak 20 miles to the west.

In the air war, U. S. Sabre jet pilots reported shooting down two Communist jets in Northwest Korea near the Yalu River border to Manchuria.

Jet Battle
The jet battle broke out near Sinuiju when four Sabres on a fighter sweep of MIG Alley tangled with four MIGs. The swift jets roared and snarled from 45,000 feet down to 7,000 feet.

The Fifth Air Force said one of its planes was lost during the past seven days in air combat and three were lost to other causes. During the week, it reported, Allied jet pilots shot down three MIGs, probably destroyed two and damaged three.

75 Million Eligible to Vote, Claim

WASHINGTON—Late official reports on final registrations in five states boost to 75,324,849 the estimated number of persons who have qualified to vote in the nation on Nov. 4.

This is a net increase of 514,288 over earlier unofficial estimates, made by state officials and other sources for The Associated Press last weekend, of those registered and otherwise qualified to vote.

Since then, official registrations have been completed by New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Arkansas and New Jersey.

Dry Weather Aids Forest Fires in Eight States

By The Associated Press
Further outbreak of forest fires threatened today as more dry weather continued over most of the nation.

Forest fires raged in at least eight states in the eastern half of the country Friday, destroying thousands of acres of rich timberlands.

No heavy rains have fallen in some areas in weeks. The five-day weather forecast for the central plains states and northern Texas indicated no appreciable precipitation.

8 States Hit
Fires were reported in wooded areas in Texas, Indiana, Illinois, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, West Virginia and New York.

The spell of mild October weather added to the forest fire hazard. Temperatures climbed into the 80's in the Plains states Friday. Readings generally were above seasonal levels in other sections of the country.

In Indiana Friday, state police, fire wardens, national guardsmen and hundreds of volunteers fought a 1,000-acre forest fire northwest of Bloomington for more than six hours before it was brought under control.

Texas Burns
Eleven separate fires burned over nearly 700 acres of pine woods in East Texas in an area where no rain has fallen in at least a month. The Texas forest service said that forest fires have destroyed some 30,000 acres thus far this year.

More than 200 separate fires were reported in West Virginia and more than 200 in Southern Illinois.

New, Bigger Typhoon to Hit Islands

444 Counted Dead In First; Worst Storm in 50 Years

MANILA—(AP)—A new typhoon bore down on the Philippines today with threats of more destruction even before officials had finished counting the toll from the worst tropical storm in 50 years.

The count from the typhoon which hit southern Luzon Island Tuesday and Wednesday reached 444 dead, 460 missing and 27 injured.

A Philippines Red Cross spokesman said the death toll might climb to 600 or more as late reports trickle in from isolated areas.

The Weather Bureau said it was moving at a faster clip than typhoon Trix and along the same path. Preliminary reports indicated it packed a more vicious punch than its predecessor which hit Southern Luzon with winds in excess of 135 miles an hour. Winds in the new typhoon, called Wilma, were estimated at 150 miles an hour velocity. It was moving northwest at 15 miles an hour.

Dixon Wins District Run At Sterling

STERLING—(Special)—Dixon high school's cross-country runners won the district meet at Sterling with 58 points this morning, and will advance to the State contest next Saturday at Peoria.

West Rockford was second with 73 points and East Rockford third with 74.

Dixon runners placed as follows: Louis Wiggington, 6; Don Wiggington, 7; Art Gann, 11; Bill Beamblossom, 15, and Ivan Adams, 16. Time of the 1.94-mile run was 10:54 5/8 minutes.

It was the second time in the last two years that Coach Marvin Winger's Dixon team has gained the state finals.

Battle Corn Field Blaze Near Woosung

ONLY A BLACKENED FIELD, with parched ears of corn hanging to stubby stalks, remain after a blaze swept the corn field of Charles Butterbaugh, west of Woosung, Friday afternoon. Two trucks from the Dixon Fire Protection district answered the alarm. Below, Fireman A. C. Highy of the district is shown pouring water on the remains of some shocked corn destroyed by the blaze.

Fire Sweeps Seven Acres Near Woosung

Rural Firemen, Volunteers Stop Spread of Blaze

POLO—(Special)—A fire which originated from a hot tractor igniter, swept seven acres of corn on the Charles Butterbaugh farm west of Woosung here Friday afternoon.

Two fire crews from the Dixon Fire Protection district plus many volunteers from surrounding farms battled the blaze.

The loss was not estimated but the field was blackened, leaving only stubs of stalks and parched ears of grain.

Butterbaugh, the owner, was hunking the field when a corn husk lodged near the tractor manifold became ablaze. The flame quickly spread to the tinder-dry weeds and stalks despite frantic effort of Butterbaugh to halt them.

An estimated 50 volunteers from the surrounding area quickly assembled to fight the flames with hand tools and brooms. The rural firemen made a run into the field to quell the blaze with water from storage tanks.

Dixon Firemen Were Busy People Friday

Dixon firemen, already at a high state of alert because of grass fires, had their job further complicated by three other blazes of more than minor importance Friday.

They were called to First street and college avenue yesterday when an oven fire in the apartment of Joe Dempsey created an alarm. The occupants, using hand extinguishers, had the grease blaze under control before they arrived, however.

In mid-afternoon, a blaze indirectly attributable to a leaf fire, destroyed the porch at the residence of Mrs. Mabel Potter, 315 S. Ottawa, and damaged the kitchen at the rear of the home.

The fire began in a waste basket of leaves gathered the night before and which contained embers of a leaf fire, firemen conjectured. The basket burst into flame during the afternoon while Mrs. Potter, a teacher, was attending the IEA institute here. The blaze ignited the rear porch and gained entrance into the kitchen before firemen brought it under control.

A stubborn blaze in a "fill" area on Steel avenue occupied firemen four hours last night. Old roofing material from the City National bank, piled into a depression on Steel avenue has been ablaze for three days, firemen said.

When the smoke became the center of objection by neighbors, firemen made a run to the area and finally quenched the stubborn, but not dangerous, smudge.

Oregon Cafe, Shop, Sold

OREGON—The Oregon cafe and Gradert Electric shop have been sold. It was learned today.

Richard Brown and Wendall Long of Oregon will assume ownership of the electric shop Monday. The firm was sold by Walter and Leroy Gradert, who have operated it the past eight years.

The cafe has been sold by Orville Steffa to a Cleveland woman, Edna Hunter, who will take over Nov. 1.

Protect Lowell Park From Fire, Board Pleads

The Dixon park district board today urged those motoring through or using Lowell park to exercise extreme caution in extinguishing cigarettes or picnic fires.

Pointing to the outbreak of forest fires throughout the nation, a spokesman for the board said it would be a "tragedy" if this beauty spot were ravaged.

"The park right now is tinder-dry," the spokesman said. "It could be destroyed within hours by some act of carelessness. The public should exercise every precaution to protect it from fire."

McCarthy Set To Air Blast At Stevenson

Will Cite Record Of Adlai During Past 17 Years

CHICAGO—(AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy says he will give a "very carefully documented history" of Gov. Adlai Stevenson during the last 17 years in a nation-wide radio-TV broadcast Monday night.

"I'm simply going to show all the links in the chain of Stevenson's history—his connection with Communist causes—individuals who are known Communists," McCarthy told a news conference Friday night.

"I'm not calling him a Communist—not a pro-Communist," the Wisconsin Republican senator said. "I just intend to give his history and let the public decide whether we want him to lead the fight against Communism."

Will Show Link
In his speech, McCarthy said, he will "show the extent to which he (Stevenson) is a part of the Truman-Hiss-Acheson-Lattimore group." McCarthy did not explain why he grouped the four names—presumably those of President Truman, Alger Hiss, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Owen Lattimore, one-time adviser to the State department on foreign affairs.

He told newsmen that the position which Stevenson made as to the regulation of Hiss during the first Hiss perjury trial would "not be an important part" of the broadcast.

McCarthy's 30-minute broadcast is being sponsored by a private group headed by Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the board of Sears Roebuck & Co. The McCarthy broadcast dinner committee said it has raised the $75,000 needed to cover all expenses. Most of the fund came from tickets to the $50-a-plate dinner in Chicago at which McCarthy will give the speech.

Let Time
The telecast will be over ABC-TV and the radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System at 8:30 p. m., (CST).

McCarthy commented to newsmen Friday about his being kept off the air in Seattle Thursday

Acheson Accuses Russia Of Planning Korean War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson accused Russia Friday night of deliberately planning and carrying on the Korean War. He warned United Nations delegates that the U. N. "cannot buy peace at the price of honor."

Speaking before the U. N. General Assembly's powerful Political Committee, Acheson asked the 60-nation assembly to approve the conduct of the United Nations war effort. He introduced a resolution—backed by 20 nations—urging the Communists to accept an armistice on the U. N. terms.

Calm Review
Acheson's nearly three-hour speech was a calm detailed review of the Korean War, all that led up to it, and the drawn-out attempts to end it. One U. S. spokesman described it as a "kind of verbal white book."

The secretary of state declared the United States would do everything in its power to achieve an "honest armistice" if the Communists wanted one.

"But if this is not the case," he warned, "and if the resistance must go on, then we shall have to examine our position and our ability to carry that resistance forward."

Some delegations interpreted this as an indication that if the Communists turn down the armistice appeal, the United States may ask U. N. members for further military support and possibly reprisals against Red China.

Hall Speech
Most delegates except Soviet bloc representatives hailed the speech with approval. Communist spokesmen remained silent. There were some indications, however, that Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky may seek to reply when the committee reconvenes Monday.

Acheson's resolution asked the assembly to endorse the stand of U. N. Command negotiators at Panmunjom—particularly their staunch opposition to forcible repatriation of war prisoners—and to urge the Communists to accept an armistice on those terms.

Twenty nations including the 15 actually sending troops to Korea, have entered their names as sponsors of the American resolution. Several other countries served advance notice they would vote for its adoption.

Acheson carefully laid the groundwork for the whole Western contention that the Communists—backed by the Russians—plotted, armed and executed the aggression in Korea. He accused Russia of talking now about "reunification of Korea" after having sabotaged all efforts since the end of World War II to unify that country.

Quotes Treaties
In outlining the stand on the prisoner of war question—the sole issue holding up a Korean armistice—Acheson quoted directly from 17 treaties signed by the Soviet Union since 1918 in which the Russians agreed to the same principle of repatriation without force to which the Communist negotiators at Panmunjom now are stonily opposed.

The Communists demand that all prisoners be returned whether they want to or not.

Will Seek War's End With Honor

Dramatic Pledge Made in Detroit Campaign Address

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was pledged today to go to Korea personally, if elected president, in a personal attempt to end the war there without appeasement.

The Republican presidential candidate and wartime supreme Allied commander against Hitler's forces in Europe sprung the surprise announcement in a speech Friday night before a cheering throng in Detroit.

Would Go Slow
His remarks indicated that if elected he probably would make the trip soon after inauguration day in January.

Today Gen. Eisenhower headed into New York's Harlem in quest of the Northern Negro vote.

The Republican presidential nominee will make an outdoor speech at the Hotel Theresa at 3:15 p. m. (CST), in a bid to break the Democratic grip on Harlem and other Negro centers. Aides said there was no doubt he would speak on the civil rights issue.

The general was due in New York aboard his 13-car special at 10 a. m. (CST).

Eisenhower told a Detroit Masonic Temple audience he would head an administration resolved "to forego the diversions of politics and to concentrate on the job of ending the Korean war—until that job is honorably done."

"That job requires a personal trip to Korea," he said.

"I shall make that trip. Only in that way could I learn how best to serve the American people in the cases of peace."

Fear Pledge
This was one of four pledges Eisenhower made in his Detroit speech.

The others:

1. His administration would undertake as its very first task a review and re-examination of "every course of action open to us with this goal in view: to bring the Korean war to an early and honorable end."

2. His administration "will always reject appeasement."

3. It would "constantly confer with association free nations of Asia and with co-operating members of the United Nations."

Eisenhower said the biggest fact about the Korean war was that "it was never inevitable, it was never inescapable."

"The war came about, he said, because the Truman administration 'failed to read and outwit the totalitarian mind.'"

Floors Need Refinishing? Here's How

The Dixon Evening Telegraph
Saturday, October 25, 1952

County Committee for Agriculture-Business Relations

Because the kids are out-of-doors most of the time now, why not do something about the condition of hardwood floors which have taken a beating through the winter?

In most cases, best results are achieved by completely refinishing floors. In cases where the existing finish is floor seal or lacquer, it may only be necessary to touch up worn spots with the same type of finish. If the worn spots are conspicuous because of their size or number, it's better to refinish the entire room.

Must Be Clean
Before applying a new finish, the floor must be clean. This means not only sweeping it but removing all dirt and wax.

There are several cleaning agents which are recommended; mineral spirits or naphtha may be purchased at most paint stores. A damp cloth with mild soap can be used. To remove grease spots, use a laundry soap containing lye but only on the grease area. Clean only a small area at a time and immediately rinse and dry it off. In the case of particularly stubborn areas where the naphtha, mineral spirits or strong soap fail, rub the area with steel wool.

Be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions. If you use the same type of finish, one coat is usually sufficient. If you plan to change the type of finish it will be necessary to completely remove the old finish from the wood except in one instance: Varnish can be applied over shellac.

After the finish has dried thoroughly, the floor should be waxed with either liquid rubbing-wax or paste type. Self-polishing liquid wax contains water and is therefore not recommended for wood floors because it causes the grain to rise and makes the wood surface rough.

Follow Instructions
Follow the instructions on the container and don't spare the muscle. In some cases, more than one coating of wax is necessary to give the wood protection from dirt which penetrates the pores. When the floor becomes dirty it is easily cleaned by removing the wax and dirt together and applying a new coating.

In this room rather than the kitchen because it is not used as frequently as the refrigerator.

In older homes many people are converting dining rooms or back porches into laundry and general utility centers, including play space for youngsters and storage room for their toys and other belongings. In recent years, gas appliance manufacturers have streamlined their kitchen and laundry equipment to provide utmost efficiency in the constantly shrinking floor space of new homes. Incidentally, gas incinerators for quick disposal of garbage and trash are gaining in popularity, especially as an adjunct to the all-purpose work room.

Eligible Vets May Apply for New Insurance

Eligible veterans who served in the armed forces since the start of the Korean campaign may apply after discharge for the new post-service term insurance provided by the Insurance Act of 1951, the Illinois Veterans Commission said today.

No medical examination is required for this insurance.

To be eligible, veterans must have been entitled to indemnity protection under the Indemnity Act of 1951 and must have been ordered into active service for a period in excess of 30 days. This would include veterans ordered into such service who were in service on June 27, 1950, and those entering service on and after that date.

The Illinois Veterans Commission said these veterans need not have served in the Korean campaign itself; the required service anywhere in the world will meet this eligibility requirement of the law. The other requirement is that they must apply in writing to VA for this insurance within 120 days after their separation from service. The application must be accompanied by the correct premium.

The new insurance is in the form of a five-year level premium term contract that is renewable every five years at the premium rate for the then-attained age. This insurance may not be converted to any of the permanent plans of insurance administered by the VA. It also is non-participating—that is, no dividends will be paid on it. In Lee county, veterans should contact the Illinois Veterans Commission Service Officer at 122 E. First st., Dixon.

The office is open daily between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. and on Saturday until noon.

Truman Will Make Political Speech in Chicago Wednesday

CHICAGO —(AP)— President Truman will make a major campaign address and will participate in a South Side war memorial ceremony during his visit to Chicago Wednesday.

The President will speak on behalf of Democratic presidential candidate Gov. Adlai Stevenson at a dinner of the American Federation of Labor's League for Political Action.

The address is to be telecast from the Hotel Sherman at 9:30 p.m. (CST) over WGNB. At the same hour, the talk will be radioed over the National Broadcasting Company network.

President Truman will arrive at Chicago's Englewood station at 4:30 p.m. (CST), and then join a motorcade to 35th street and South Parkway.

There the President will lay a wreath on the Giles Monument to Negro dead of World War I.

After the ceremony the presidential party will go to the Hotel Sherman where the President will have dinner with friends in his suite.

Before the President's half-hour talk to the AFL, state Democratic candidates will air a state-wide broadcast over WCFL.

Following his AFL speech President Truman will have a reception in his hotel suite for members of the union committee in charge of the dinner, and for Democratic leaders and state candidates.

His train is scheduled to leave the LaSalle street station at 12:30 a.m. (CST) Thursday, for the final Eastern campaign swing.

FURTHER THOUGHTS ON WISCONSIN

Some of Sen. McCarthy's persistent detractors have not acknowledged defeat, despite the fact that the senator ran 100,000 ahead of the combined vote of the five other Republican contenders and two Democratic candidates in the Wisconsin primary. They are still exhorting the people of Wisconsin to beat McCarthy for them in November. This is simply not in the cards. A great clamor was raised against something called "McCarthyism," an invention that was supposed to be very evil. The people of Wisconsin demonstrated that they will go for McCarthyism every time when the alternative is what might be called Hissism.

Proper Care Of Bulbs Is Success Key

STORE BULBS IN COOL DRY PLACE. SAND

The care of summer-blooming bulbs, such as gladioli, canna, dahila and tuberous-rooted begonias, should be part of this month's garden program. These tender bulbs can be kept over winter and planted next spring for another season of bloom.

Actually, none of these are bulbs in the true sense of the word. The "bulbs" of gladioli and tigridia are botanically known as "corms," while those of the dahlias, canna and begonias are termed "tubers."

Gladioli: A top-ranking gladiolus grower says that "at least six weeks are needed to mature the corms after the plants have finished blooming. However, bulbs should be dug when the plants are still green, so do not delay too long after the average killing frost date in your area.

Do not leave part of stem on bulb. Cut close and burn the tops. Do not leave bulbs to dry where frost can reach them. Do not pile deeply. Quick drying (not in hot sunlight) is extremely important to prevent spread of diseases in storage. Do not remove roots and old bulb for some weeks unless the old bulb is soft or shows decay. Wait until they separate with ease and without tearing the new root base.

This waiting period is the most desirable time for dusting your bulbs with DDT.

Use any DDT dry dusting powder—5 per cent strength is enough, more than 5 per cent is a sheer waste of money and increases the possible human hazard by inhalation.

Canna and Dahila: The treatment for storage of these two plants is similar. Dahlias are not difficult to winter if the gardener follows instructions and makes certain the storage room temperature does not rise above 50 nor drop below 38 degrees. Dahila tubers should be dug up a week or 10 days after frost has blackened the leaves.

Dig—do not pull up—the plants to prevent breaking the necks. After digging, turn the tubers upside down to drain the moisture remaining in the stem, and dry in the sun for a few hours.

When the earth shakes freely from the clumps, cut the stems off about six inches above the tubers. Do not wash off the soil because soil clinging to the clumps guards the necks from breaking and reduces the possibilities of the tubers drying out.

You may store the tubers in a box or barrel lined with newspaper, or they can be packed in dry sand or peatmoss. The tubers should be lightly dusted with sulphur to reduce danger of mildew during storage. However, since some moisture is necessary to keep tubers from shriveling, it is wise to sprinkle them occasionally during the winter.

Tuberous-rooted Begonias: Tuberous-rooted begonias continue to bloom until the frost cuts them down. A covering of cloth or paper during the early frost will protect them and often blooms continue till mid-November.

This treatment permits the bulbs to mature naturally, otherwise one will have difficulty carrying them through the winter.

Dig them up before severe frost and spread out in flats (leaving soil adhering to roots). Put in a sunny, airy space and allow to ripen. When stems and leaves have dried, clean off and store the tubers in dry sand, soil or peatmoss in a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees.

Tigridia: The corms of the tigridia are lifted and stored, as are those of the gladioli, being sure that they are dry before storing. Propagation is from seeds or from cormels.

Bagasse, the largely wasted crushed sugar cane from which the sap has been extracted, can be used to make newspaper, relieving in part the demand for wood pulp.

Now that today's array of wonder-working appliances has eased kitchen management problems, homemakers have begun to turn their attention to the home laundry.

Architects' plans take this trend into account by providing a ground floor multi-purpose room, adjoining the kitchen, which separates laundering and other housekeeping function from the cooking area but allows the housewife to keep an eye on the range and on the children, too.

It is suggested that the modern utility room should house the automatic washer, clothes dryer, hamper, sewing center, and shelves or cabinets for storage of non-perishable foods and household supplies. Stratton

Under the foregoing caption, the Chicago Tribune on Friday published an editorial endorsing William G. Stratton, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, in which the Tribune says, in part:

The carefully nurtured myth that Adlai Stevenson was a wonderful governor of Illinois came to full bloom in the Democratic national convention. Even the governor seems to believe the myth now, for in his speech Monday in the Springfield armory he spoke admiringly of the Stevenson record and recommended the election of Democratic candidates for state offices on the ground that "honesty, decency and enterprise" would flee from the state if his candidate for governor were defeated.

This brazen talk might be impressive outside Illinois, but in this state it makes no sense. The "honesty and decency" in the Stevenson administration can be measured by the horse meat scandal, the cigarette tax scandal, the swelling of state payrolls, the failure to live within the state's income, and the sandbagging of business men and state employees for political donations. The "enterprise" in the Stevenson administration has been confined to measures sponsored jointly by the governor and Republican leaders in the general assembly.

Mr. Sherwood Dixon, who was chosen by Mr. Stevenson to run for governor, emphasizes that he is running on the Stevenson record and has said that he indorses all of it. This indorsement is sufficient reason for voting against him, but there are others.

William G. Stratton, the Republican candidate for governor, is cut from a different kind of cloth. Only 38 years old, he has already served two terms as congressman at large and two terms as state treasurer. As a congressman he showed independence, courage, and devotion to his country. His record as state treasurer has withstood the Democrats' frantic efforts to disparage him.

Mr. Stratton owes his nomination to no party clique. He won with the aid of numerous supporters in all parts of the state. He would be entirely free, therefore, to make his own appointments and these, we believe, would be for the best interests of Illinois. Mr. Stratton is shrewd enough to prevent a continuance of the scandals and payroll loading of the current Democratic administration. He has promised to restore the long standing rule against political activity by state employees, which was wrecked by Gov. Stevenson's civil service commission.

Mr. Stratton's honesty is attested by the fact that he has not enriched himself in public office. He seems to have unlimited energy; he would know what is going on in all departments of the state government. For at least four years he would not be running for president and the state would have a governor, for a change, instead of a campaign orator.

Mr. Stratton knows the whole state and what it needs. He is capable of taking a judicious attitude toward the urban-rural controversies that often hamstring progressive legislation. His experience as a congressman has given him excellent training in the legislative process.

The Tribune indorses Mr. Stratton, feeling confident that his administration as governor will be distinguished by decency and enterprise.

Jacoby on Canasta

Want to Win? Learn to Meld

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Sometimes the question of whether to make the initial meld early or late depends on the kind of pairs you have in your hand. With high pairs, you tend to meld early; with low pairs, you tend to meld late.

Let's take an example. You hold a pair of jokers and a pair of kings, with both sides needing 120 points for the initial meld. Hence you are in position to make the initial meld with only four cards.

If the rest of your cards include, say, a pair of queens and a pair of jacks, you should make the initial meld at once. You have, to be sure, a fair chance to win the pack, but the enemy will probably throw low cards rather than queens or jacks.

Contrariwise, if the rest of your cards include a pair of sixes and a pair of sevens (instead of those queens and jacks) you should tend not to make your meld so quickly. The opponent at your right is likely to throw a six or seven in the hope that you don't have the count, but if you make your meld he will discard much more cautiously.

Q—We play six-handed Canasta and sometimes six-handed Canasta. In such a game, what is the rule when a player wants to ask permission to meld out? The player has two partners, as you know. Does he ask both of them, or only one?

A—When you want to ask permission to go out, you must ask the partner at your left. You can't ask both partners, and you can't ask the partner at your right—at least, not to begin with.

The partner at your left must answer your question with "yes," "no," or "I pass." If he says, "yes," you must meld out; and if he says "no," you must continue to play. In either such case, the partner at your right has nothing to say in the matter. He must remain silent and must not indicate his wishes by facial expression or any other way.

If the partner at your left says "I pass," the decision is then up to the other partner. In this case, the partner at your right must say "yes" or "no."

When you ask permission, the partner at your left should pass unless he has a good reason for making a definite answer. If he is going to guess at the right answer, he can allow the other partner to do the guessing; and, after all, the other partner may have very strong wishes one way or the other.

What's Right?

You are having dinner with your husband in a restaurant and would like a second cup of coffee.

WRONG—Attract the waiter's attention and ask for a second cup of coffee.

RIGHT—Ask your husband if he will ask the waiter to bring you more coffee.

Voice Of The People

Dere Mr. Republican—Editor:—

My old man's giving me trouble agin . . . he's been stayin home now several weeks . . . says there's union vacations goin on for a while an he don have to work . . . so he's trying to find where I hid the can with the foldin money. So for a couple a weeks he's bin sittin in the way talkin politiks . . . says we've never had t so good . . . we should remember when we didn have bottom on shoes . . . says I've got my fanny in butter and don know it . . . says look how good we are off . . . sure I look but don see much and I'm holdin onto the can.

Then he goes out an talks to the c/o boys awhile . . . then comes back for somethin to eat and says we don want no generals in the white house . . . we got to miss a republican depression . . . and look at how much they pay for doin about half what I ust to. He gets funny ideas with a beer in his hand . . . everything's rosy and then he sleeps it off and starts over agin.

Now me . . . I looks first at the democrats, then at the other ones . . . none of 'em say much but make a lot of promises . . . some times we jus listen cause the neighbors TV aint so hot . . . but the commercials are kinda cute. Me and Gert, that's my neighbor with the old TV set . . . we got to talkin the other day . . . the coal bins kinda low and this coal strike it don look so good. The paper says they was to have $1.90 raise a day and the SoB, or WaP, or what ever 'tis, wouldn't go for that and says $1.50 is better . . . so now they aint workin either, just like the ol man. Gert, she's purty gud with a pencil, so she says those miners have to work 44 days to get bak 1 days pay lost on strike . . . and all year if they stay out a week, so we cant see no good reason to quit work and get no pay over 40 cents a day squabble . . . what with our old men sittin aroun and no dough comin in. Us women ought to have it so good too . . . jus strike and sit aroun . . . maybe we could get the c/o to organize us, to huh?

The ol man he hears us talking and explains the whole thing how good it is for the miners . . . but all we can see is they've got the hell scared out of the democrats and are thumbing their noses at the SoB, or WaP, and Washington cause they're more powerful than government and don't have to pay no attention to them.

The ol man he says how . . . us democrats we aint scared a nuthin . . . what the miners is doin is good for the country or Truman wouldn't stand for it . . . then Gert, she's a quick thinker, she says how bout you gettin us a couple a milk coats and a deep freeze a sum butter . . . and that stops him, cause he aint even got the price of oleo an horse meat . . . but he keeps hiltin aroun about wheres the can an get mad when I tell 'im to go rake some leaves or somethin for some spendin money.

A couple a days ago he comes home and says he's been talkin to a non-partisan and we gotta back the home town an can I give him a buck to give this non-partisan . . . what's a non-partisan . . . and Maggie says it's a man . . . sometimes a woman . . . that's got a gripe with a bellyache . . . usually along 'bout election time . . . lookin for to be on the right side . . . so's you can go thru stop signs for free and park in front of your store without tickets and stuff . . . that such people aren't either democrats or republicans . . . just lookin for somethin . . . so I tell the ol man it's not worth a buck a my money . . . I aint gonna be suspended between 2 parties . . . I'm gonna be either a democrat or a republican.

Now we got into a hot one last night . . . he's still not workin . . . just sit an argues . . . said he heard the Russians are saying we're more afraid of peace than war . . . that if the republicans get elected they're liable to win the war and then the war plans will shut down and we'll all be out a work. That gets Gert mad and she puts her beer down and jumps up and sticks her finger at his nose . . . and says it's a fine thing to have to keep on killin people an burnin their homes and blowin up their towns an draftin boys and blowing off their arms and legs just so a bunch of politicians can keep prospering and high wages so lugs like you can quit working and sit aroun an talk about what you don't know nothin of . . . an you aint't even got gumption to go out an make yourself useful and figure how to make a livin without killin people to do it . . . an a course, the ol man . . . he's got a temper an he stands up and says you cant talk to me like that . . . and Gert she pokes the finger some more and says she can . . . and she pokes the finger too far . . . an he gets a beaut in the good eye . . . an throws the can and misses Gert an catches me in the puss . . . now we aint talkin until after the election.

Now Mr. newspaperman, I've had enough of this happy days business . . . Gert and Maggie an I've formed a coffee club an we meet in the woodshed, or the kitchen or wherever the men aint . . . an we've cussed and discussed these elections . . . an we're fed up with no-good strikes and non-partisans and a bloody prosperity that gives high wages an then takes it back in taxes and high cost of livin simple like . . . we wouldn't look good in milk coats now an we got nuthin to put in a deep freeze . . . an if the ol man don't go back to work we'll have deep freeze in the front room all winter . . . an we don't hanker to know on any tough horse meat . . . so we're goin to get some more members and discuss some more . . . and we're goin to vote for the party that has a chance of puttin uncle sam higher up the totem pole than John L. Lewis and gettin us out a the mess we're in.

PETER EDSON'S WASHINGTON NEWS NOTEBOOK

Red Feather, Other Funds Take Over Where Government Aid Ends

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Red Feather Community Chest and USO National Defense Fund drives now going on in some 160 U. S. communities are expected to raise something more than the $235 million pledged last year. This is only about 10 per cent of the public assistance payments made by the federal and state governments for aid to the needy out of taxes. Where the Red Feather fund fits in is to take care of health, youth, family and armed forces welfare services that can't be covered by any law.

The tendency over the past 20 years has been to put more and more of the charity and relief work on the taxpayer. Both General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson have been promising more and not less social security. But no matter how much these services are expanded, they can't ever carry the whole load. There are now over 3,000 private charities to which contributions are tax exempt. They collect an estimated $4 billion a year.

A Red Feather campaign contribution is, after all, only a little thing.

STAR SNARL

There's a Pentagon SNAFU over giving a fifth star to four-star General Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe. General Ridgway is now handicapped by being inferior in rank to British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and French Marshal Alphonse-Pierre Juin, who are his deputies.

The White House has said it would promote Ridgway if the Pentagon recommended it. But Pentagon four-star generals who now rank General Ridgway in seniority are reluctant to promote him unless they get a fifth star, too.

ICE CREAM'S OUR DISH

America's milk-drinking, butter-eating and other dairy products-consuming habits are changing gradually over the years. They indicate the possibility of further revolution in the dairy industry over the next decade.

Butter consumption has dropped from 18 pounds per person to about nine pounds per person in the last 20 years. At the same time, consumption of non-fat milk solids has increased from 39 to 47 pounds per person per year. Cheese consumption in the U. S. has gone up from 4½ pounds per person per year to 7½ pounds since 1930. And ice cream consumption has gone up from 22 to 44 pounds per person per year in the same time.

The rise of margarine consumption is responsible for the drop in butter sales. Margarine consumption this year is expected to be about eight pounds per person—only a pound less than butter. In 1930 margarine consumption was only three pounds per person. Total production of margarine this year is expected to be 1.23 billion pounds, as compared to 1.23 billion pounds of butter. Next year margarine consumption may surpass butter consumption.

BATTLE OF THE ROADS

War between the railroads and the trucking industry in Pennsylvania has now reached a new high of intensity. Both sides have hired press agents to wage a propaganda battle for public support of their views.

Pennsylvania now has the lowest truck load limits for any state in the heavy traffic St. Louis-to-New York area. The truckers charge this is because of railroad domination of Pennsylvania state legislature. In retaliation, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association has started a campaign to make 162 railroads pay up to $50 million a year more in state taxes to help Pennsylvania's somewhat desperate financial condition. It is the truckers' charge that the railroads in Pennsylvania now "pay more than trivial taxes on their real estate holdings only in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh."

LOVETT ON "GUIDED MISSILES"

Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett thinks the record ought to be straightened out on these so-called "guided missiles" that were shot off a Navy carrier at North Korean targets not long ago.

They weren't guided missiles at all. They were "drone planes" carrying an explosive warhead. The drone was controlled by the pilot of a "mother plane" through television apparatus that watched the drone's instrument panel. There is an improvement in these controls over those used for drone plane flight in the last war. But this still isn't a true guided missile.

THE DOCTOR SAYS:

Code Designed to Improve Doctor, Patient Relations

Few things are so generally misunderstood as medical ethics. Most people who think about this at all have some vague idea that medical ethics is a set of rules established by the medical profession to protect the doctors and confuse the public.

Actually, medical ethics is a code of behavior which physicians have developed themselves to improve their dealings with their patients and with other doctors. The origin of this code lies in the famous Oath of Hippocrates which I wish I could quote in full.

However, contrary to what many people believe, the code of ethics has been modified repeatedly because of changing conditions of society.

The opening section of the present code of ethics states: "A profession has for its prime object the service it can render to humanity; reward or financial gain should be a subordinate consideration. The practice of medicine is a profession. In choosing this profession an individual assumes an obligation to conduct himself in accord with its ideals."

A few points about "ethics" are particularly bothersome to patients. One of these arises when a patient or a patient's family wishes to change physicians.

Such a change is at all times the privilege of the patient; the only thing that the patient or the family need to do in order to make a change during the course of an illness is to notify the physician in charge that another physician is to be called in his place.

It should be obvious that if this is not done a great deal of confusion and bad feeling is likely to arise.

A second thing which seems to bother many people is the question of consultation. The code of ethics states that: "In serious illness, especially in doubtful or difficult conditions, the physician should request consultations." This is clear enough, and the patient, too, can ask the attending physician for a consultation by another physician.

A final point, which comes up occasionally, and which this column has been asked, is whether there is any way by which a patient who feels he has not been properly treated, has been overcharged, or is otherwise dissatisfied, can ask for review of the conduct of the physician.

COMPLAINTS ARE REVIEWED

In a large number of places this is now possible since a goodly number of county and state medical societies have set up committees to hear complaints of this sort. Such committees have accomplished a great deal of good, and I am glad to say that most of them have not had too much to do.

Since physicians, like patients, are human beings, and since the human body is a complicated organism, there will always be some unfortunate experiences with medical care and more misunderstandings.

However, it seems beyond question that the principles of medical ethics have been enormously helpful to the public welfare and that this code has greatly improved the relationship between the medical profession and the public.

Questions and Answers

Q—Why might the War of 1812 be called the War of Faulty Communication?

A—Two days before the war was declared the British government had stated that it would repeal the laws which were the chief excuse for fighting. If there had been telegraphic communication with Europe, the war might well have been avoided.

Q—When was the first radio commercial broadcast?

A—In 1922, in New York. It was a 10-minute sales talk on real estate and cost $100.

Q—Has the writer of the U. S. Constitution been identified?

A—He has sometimes been identified as Jacob Shallus who engrossed the final text on four sheets of parchment for $30.

Q—What was the capital of Alaska under Russian ownership?

A—Sitka was the Russian capital and after the purchase by the United States until 1912.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The Laugh Parade: Rosalind Russell, who temporarily sheds her best-dressed actress title for a WAC uniform in "Never Wave at a Wac," tells this howler about her long-time style leadership efforts. After her first starring film at MGM, she went to New York and was guest of honor at a cocktail party.

Dressed to kill, Ros buzzed around the room greeting one and all. Then she came to a dour little old lady seated by herself in a corner.

"How do you do," said Ros. "I'm Rosalind Russell."

"I know that—it says so on the invitation," replied the old doll. "But what do you do?"

Ros smiled and said, "I'm an actress."

The old doll surveyed Ros from head to foot, then said:

"Well, I thought you must be in the clothes business."

John Ireland and Dorothy McGuire are friends again, but the climax of their feud during a "Summer and Smoke" stage tour together, forever will be a classic.

Dorothy, up-staging John at one performance, came dangerously close to falling into the footlights.

With a diabolical grin, John stopped reading his lines, walked over and picked her up. Then he carried her back to mid-stage, where she belonged, put her down and resumed his dialog as if nothing had happened.

KEENE-MINDED SCOUT

Cowboy star Tom Keene is telling this one.

When he changed his name to Richard Powers and opened in a Broadway play, to prove that he could do something more than ride a horse in westerns, he was visited backstage by an RKO talent scout.

"We're very interested in signing you at RKO," said the scout. "Now I don't want to hurt your feelings, but we have a cowboy star named Tom Keene under contract and there may be a little trouble because you look so much like him."

"But I don't foresee any trouble. Tom Keene can't act for beans. But you're a great actor."

Marie Wilson was summoned for publicity pictures at CBS TV City plant in Hollywood a couple of Sundays ago. So Marie learned way over—and you know what happens when Marie learns way over—and said to the lenser:

Singer Bob Cross noticed this sign at a local airport when Maj. Speed Chandler took him up for a flight to Las Vegas. A bulletin board note read:

"Notice. Absolutely no flying over nudist camp located exactly eight miles SSW on a true course of 190 degrees."

TALL IN THE RILFOLD

Billy Halop talks about the time Sam Goldwyn sent for him for a very important role. After telling the actor how much he had admitted his work through the years, and how nice it was to have him there. Sam asked Halop's agent his asking price. "Fifteen hundred a week," the agent said.

Sam thought for a moment, then shook his head. "Sorry," he said. "He's much too tall for the role."

Vivian Vance, the one-time Broadway actress who plays Bill Frawley's wife on the "I Love Lucy" TV show, has a father in Albuquerque, N. M., who finds it difficult to understand show business.

During her vacation at home this summer, he asked her: "Vivian—an—why don't you use your own name on the show?" Vivian explained she was playing a character—Mrs. Mertz.

Papa Vance was still puzzled. "But," he argued, "Fred Mertz uses HIS real name."

Even after Vivian explained that Frawley plays Mr. Mertz, Papa Vance was still confused and shrugged. "I guess I'll never understand show business."

Home Bureau, Rural Youth in News of Today

By JUNE PILGRIM

Next week Thursday will be the Hobby and Handicraft Show sponsored by Lee County Home Bureau members. It will take place at the Farm Bureau Building, Amboy, from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m.

I think everyone will be interested in seeing the array of hobbies and handicrafts which will be on hand. Several people will be actually showing you how to do some things.

A country store will feature homemade "goodies." Refreshments will also be sold.

Rural Youth District Meeting

Friday evening, Oct. 31, will find Lee County Rural Youth represented at a district meeting to be held in Oregon, at the high school gym. The program will include district talk test, selection of district officers and four state continuation committees will be named. Lee County's representative in talk test will be Richard Lohse. Donna Long will be the Lee County Rural Youth member who will serve on the district nominating committee.

Rural Youth will become formally organized into a district organization with regular meetings held throughout the year. This area will be District IA and will include Carroll, Whiteside, Ogle, Stephenson and Lee counties.

Home Bureau Bowling

October 23, Lee County Home Bureau members will begin their bowling season at Dixon Recreation, Dixon. A meeting at 1:30 p. m. will see various units forming teams, or extra, interested members will join with other units in making up teams.

How Do You Rate As a Parent?

Now that children are back in school and busy with activities and assignments, parents have a big assignment, too. Marguerite Briggs, child development specialist, University of Illinois, suggests that you test yourself on the following questions to see how you rate yourself in your important assignment in parenthood. Answer honestly and see if you rate an "A."

Do you refrain from attacking the teacher, other children or the school system in the presence of your child?

Do you place less emphasis on grades and more on the overall development of your child?

Do you plan your family's entertaining and other activities so that your child's food and rest habits are seldom disturbed?

Are you aware of the pressure that special lessons and extra-curricular activities puts on your child, and do you limit these activities so that they will not interfere with his school progress?

Are you ever guilty of writing fake excuses or frequent complaints to the teacher concerning your child? Such notes may get the child by the incident in question, but he may pay dearly in friendship and teacher approval.

Do you make a continual effort to see that your child does not feel different from his classmates in dress, intelligence, home life or privileges? To be comfortable and happy, he needs to feel that he is very much like his contemporaries.

Dixon Stamp Club

A regular meeting of the Dixon Stamp club will be held at 8 p. m. Monday, Oct. 27, at the home of Walter Krug, 419 Dixon av. The program "Proofs" will be by Dr. Robert Lesage and there will be an exhibit, "Collection of Errors From Society of Philatelic Americans."

Circle II of Baptist Church Plans Future

Circle II of the Women's Fellowship of the First Baptist church met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Ruth Chiverton with Miss Jean Sitter, assisting hostess.

Mrs. Ira Leggett gave the devotion and Mrs. Charles Wallace presented the lesson study on "Africa" which is the foreign mission study of the year.

White Cross quotas for the circle were adopted and members chose the articles they wanted to give for the Christmas box. Plans were made for the Nov. 7, meeting for the Women's Fellowship with Circle 2 the hostesses, Mrs. Gustave Sword of Springfield, wife of a returned missionary from Assam, will be the guest speaker of the evening.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour was enjoyed. The November meeting will be the 11th at the home of Mrs. Ben Rippeon.

Ideal Club

Mrs. Louis Meppen was hostess to the Ideal club Wednesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Francis Waytenick. Members answered roll call with "Migratory Birds." Mrs. Robert Fulton had charge of the program choosing as her subject, "The New White House."

Refreshments were served by the hostess with her daughter assisting.

Mrs. A. P. Corbin and Mrs. William Meppen were guests.

North Central PTA to Hear NISTC Professor

Dr. Eleanor Volberding, professor in the education department, Northern Illinois State Teachers college, DeKalb, will be the speaker at the North Central PTA meeting Tuesday, Oct. 28. Her subject for the meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the kindergarten room, will be, "Feelings Are Important."

Dr. Volberding who attended the State University of Iowa and Iowa State Teachers college, is a native of Manson, Ia. Living in Iowa her first 24 years she taught in communities in that state for three years.

When her parents moved to Chicago she accompanied them, teaching in the public schools of Elgin and Lake Bluff, Ill. She later taught in Ottawa Hills high school, Ohio; in the Laboratory school of the University of Chicago; at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo. and at the University of Utah. Since September 1931 she has been a member of the education department of Northern Illinois State Teachers college.

Major Interest

Tuesday's speaker has a major interest in the field of Child Growth and development and in the social sciences in which she majored. Both her Master's degree and Doctor of Philosophy degree were received from the University of Chicago.

She is particularly interested in youth work in the churches and other community groups which service children and youth, especially in the work of public schools and parent groups in the schools.

Useful Household TIPS by Al

PAINTING A RADIATOR

A radiator finished in oil paint will radiate ten to fifteen per cent more heat than one when finished with a metallic paint. The most satisfactory are thin coats of paint which are more elastic than thick.

Before painting, the surface should be cleaned of all rust, scaling paint or grease, permitting the best bond between metal and paint.

The first coat should be Moore's Saniflat, slightly thinned. The second coat should be applied without thinning.

$89 Million Budget Asked For University of Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—An operating budget of $89,870,000 for the 1953-54 biennium—an increase of nearly 12 million dollars over the current two-year period—was approved Friday by the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

Actually, the request calls for an increase of $15,372,509 in funds from state taxes because of an anticipated drop of 3½ million in revenue from fees and other non-tax sources.

The biggest loss in non-tax income, the board said, is a predicted drop of $3,850,000 in fee income because of a change in the GI Bill of Rights which will pay education allowances directly to veterans, instead of paying "cost of instruction" allotment to the schools.

Free Scholarships

The veteran students are not required to pay any of their education allowance to the university because, under an act of the legislature, veterans of World War II are granted free military scholarships.

Of the requested increase, the board says, six million dollars would go for pay boosts and the rest to "meet competition from other universities, industry and government, and to recognize merit."

A new item of $340,000 was asked to put into operation a portion of a hospital building under construction on the Chicago medical school campus.

The budget request is based on an anticipated undergraduate enrollment of between 19,800 and 20,000, including students at the Navy Pier branch in Chicago. Another 2,000 enrollment is expected in the Chicago professional colleges. The present enrollment is 20,804.

The budget includes $22,575,500 for a building program, of which nearly two million would be spent on the Chicago professional college and the remainder on the Champaign-Urbana campus.

New Law College
One of the new building items is $2,100,000 for a new structure to house the College of Law. A new law building was approved by the legislature in 1951, but the item was vetoed by Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

An item included by the trustees although not requested was $700,000 for a band building.

The trustees also accepted the resignation of Stanley V. Olson, dean of the medical school who plans to quit Jan. 1 to head the school of medicine at Baylor University.

Under the law, the trustees must submit their budget request to the legislature's budgetary commission before Nov. 1. The commission, after holding hearings, will submit its recommendation for 1953-54 appropriations to the General Assembly which convenes in January.

Kidnap Trio May Now Be In Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP)—Three fast-moving bandits, who snatched hostages in wholesale lots and traveled in stolen cars, may have split up and gone into hiding around Atlanta.

That was a major possibility considered by state, local and federal officers today as a 13-state alert continued for two ex-convicts from Florida and a teenager from Nashville, Tenn.

During a three-day spree through Georgia, into Tennessee, and back to Atlanta, the trio kidnaped 20 persons and stole three cars and a pickup truck. All hostages apparently were released after a short period.

The latest victim, Herschel Myers, 20, of White County, Tenn., told police he was forced at gunpoint to drive the trio from Spencer, Tenn., to Atlanta Friday. He said one of the bandits got out about 20 miles from Atlanta and the other two at different places in the city.

A federal warrant charging kidnapping and transporting a stolen car across a state line was issued Friday night against James Francis Hill, 29, of Framingham, Mass.; Charles Edwards Hopkins, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla.; and Virgil Lemay, 15, of Nashville, Tenn. Hill and Hopkins were released from the state prison at Raiford, Fla., in August and April, respectively, after serving terms for armed robbery.

In Nashville, Lemay's mother, Mrs. Willy Lemay, said she believes her son was forced to go with the other two men.

He Has Drastic Answer to Los Angeles Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The City of the Angels can get rid of smog, perhaps, but it is questionable whether George P. Murray's formula for achieving it is going to be popular with the four million persons in the country.

Murray, an oil executive and general chairman of the Institute of Atmospheric Purification, made Friday:

"The people in Los Angeles County must not believe they will ever have absolutely clean air here unless most of them move away, unless backyard and open fire burning is discontinued, unless most automobiles are eliminated, unless people who remain here quit smoking, and unless we eliminate industry, for which there would be no need, anyway."

Adlai, Ike Even In British Book

LONDON (AP)—A leading British bet-taker today placed a 100 pound ($280) limit on bets on the American presidential election following what he said was a "rush of wagers on Adlai Stevenson."

Douglas Stuart, Ltd., said heavy betting on Stevenson in the past two days had made the odds the same for both candidates—four to five, take your pick.

Before yesterday, a company spokesman said, Gen. Eisenhower was an odds-on, four to five, favorite. He said the next 48 hours might bring another change in the odds.

The spokesman would not give the total amount of money bet on Stevenson in the past two days but said it ran into "thousands of pounds."

"Many bettors wanted to bet more than 100 pounds but we just cannot take that big a risk," he said.

Poultry, Eggs, Wheat Prices Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prices for live poultry, wheat, eggs and some vegetables increased during the week ended Oct. 21 but a sharper drop in costs of processed foods pulled the over-all wholesale price average down one-tenth of 1 percent for the period, the government says.

Lower prices also were reported for crude rubber, cow hides, linseed oil, inedible tallow and some manufactured animal foods, the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced Friday.

The bureau said its index on Oct. 21 was 110.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Walnut Wins by 40-0 Score; Bourquin Scores Three Times

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Peoria Woodruff stumbled but Rock Island, Springfield Feitshans, Pana and Pittsfield swept their seventh obstacles Friday night to downstate high school unbeaten and untied grid records.

Effingham, Walnut and Central Catholic of East St. Louis also kept their seven-game records spotless.

Woodruff checked in a 6-6 tie by Peoria Manual, a rival whose four year dominance of intricacy competition was broken last week by Peoria Spalding. Unstopped Spalding now stands on top of the city race with only Woodruff to beat. Woodruff's tie mares a six-game card and breaks a win skein of seven that equalled the longest in the school's history.

Rock Island claimed at least co-title in the Northwest loop by virtue of a 26-0 whipping of Galesburg, the seventh Rock victim in a row. Only Moline, a rugged league opponent, and Clinton, Ia., stand in the way of an unblemished Rock season.

Springfield Feitshans took a stronger grip on its Midstate Conference leadership with a 20-12 defeat of Litchfield. Feitshans overcame a second quarter, Litchfield lead with a 35 yard scoring drive, a 40 yard touchdown pass and another tally that developed from a bad Litchfield punt.

Walnut advanced another step toward the Blackhawk crown with a 48-0 drubbing of Princeville. Ken Bourquin, Walnut full-back who leads state prep scorers, counted three more touchdowns and four extra points to boost his total of 153.

In the South Seven race, Mt. Vernon's Rams and Centralia's Orphans kept one-two posts in league leadership, the Rams hurdling Benton 40-19 and the Orphans drubbing Marion, 66-12.

Salem Winner
Salem captured at least a co-championship in the North Egyptian Conference by a 40-6 triumph over Olney. Salem's seven-game record is marred by an opening night tie with Lawrenceville which downed Mt. Carmel 21-6 Friday night.

An outstanding 63-game streak massed by Unity of Tolono was snapped by St. Teresa of Decatur, a 15-7 winner. It was Unity's first defeat against one tie in 42 games of six man football and 21 later contests of the 11 man variety.

Go Away, Flying Saucer, I'm Sorry I Spotted You!

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—If the first space ship from Mars were to land in my backyard, I'd beg the little men to go away.

This is one big news story I want to avoid. It's not that I'm afraid of people from another world. I'm more afraid of the people in this one.

You see, a few months ago, when lots of folks were seeing "flying saucers" in the sky, I happened to see something.

While minding my own business at home one night, I saw an orange ball in the sky. It was about the size of a quarter, made no sound and was clearly visible as it moved from horizon to horizon.

Mad "Scoop"
Like a good little newsboy, I immediately called my city desk. The next day I ran into a barrage of office humor. Didn't I think complete bed rest was indicated? Someone asked. Relax and those spots before your eyes will go away, a lay doctor advised. Could it have been the olive in the martini? someone else asked.

That night the Air Force announced that Washington radar had picked up certain peculiar objects at the same time I had seen my orange ball over New Jersey. For awhile, I felt like a vindicated hero. Now they quoted me in the news stories.

But the next day I discovered something I never really had appreciated before. When your name appears over a news story, few people notice it. When it appears in the story, as part of the news, you are suddenly swept up in a public momentum completely beyond you. Nothing you can say or do will slow it down.

The delatessan man, ordinarily quite solicitous, cracked to my wife: "Your husband is quite a publicity hound, isn't he?"

In another town, friends phoned my mother and asked if I were sick. For awhile, it seemed like my brother might have to close up his law office or change his name to avoid identification with an hallucinating relative.

Just when the furor seemed to be dying down, I came home one night to find my wife waiting breathlessly.

"They want you on television," she said.

"Nuts," I said, "I've looked silly enough."

"They mentioned money."

So I appeared on television and regretted that, too. I was nervous throughout and later, when I got paid, I wasn't allowed to enjoy the dough. My wife and kids had a long seminar on what to do with the money. A lady in Kiel, Germany who had read the news stories, wrote me that she and her six children could use cash, too.

Draper Runs 77 Yards to Nip Rockets, 12-6

'Dukes Spoil Rock Falls' Homecoming

Third Quarter TD Run Assures Dixon Victory

By HUGH HOUGH
Telegraph Sports Editor

ROCK FALLS—Kay Draper, possibly the fastest football player ever to perform for Dixon high school, streaked 77 yards for a touchdown at the far end of the third quarter to give Dixon a 12-6 decision over Rock Falls Friday night.

Draper started wide, cut inside his own right end and simply coasted away from the Rocket defenders. He held a 10-yard lead on his pursuers as he crossed the Rock Falls goal. But as far back as midfield the big Rock Falls homecoming crowd was aware that only a stumble would stop him.

Errors Plentiful
Until Draper supplied the heroics—and after that big moment, too—Dixon and Rock Falls had been locked in battle that started as a comedy of errors and later became a punting duel.

Twice in the first quarter the Dukes gave Rock Falls excellent chances to score by fumbling deep in Dixon territory. The first time, Gil Contreras dropped a punt on his own eight. Rock Falls recovered but lost ground on each of four successive stabs at the Duke line.

As soon as the Dukes got hold of the ball again, Merle Pitman fumbled and Rock Falls recovered on the Dixon 11. This time a fine Dixon stand held the Rockets off the three-yard line.

In the second quarter Rock Falls returned Dixon's generosity, and the Dukes promptly turned the gift into a touchdown.

Receivers Fumble
Tom Hufford boomed a punt 45 yards to the Rock Falls 23. The punt was fumbled, Dixon's John Perry recovering on the Rocket 17. Jim Schuler completed a jump pass to Gorman for six yards. On the next play Contreras tossed a strike down the middle to Merle Pitman, who took it on the Rocket goal-line and stepped over.

Bob Ashford's kick for point was wide.

Rock Falls came back to tie the game with three minutes remaining in the first half. After Sam Licocci had hauled the Dixon kickoff back to his own 44, Rock Falls moved the ball to the Dixon 10, where a holding penalty appeared to block the drive. But Bob McCoy had other ideas. He started wide to his right, cut inside his end and scored standing up on a 22-yard run.

Punting Helps
Hufford's punting and the stout Dixon defense kept the Dukes in control during the entire second half.

Only once, when a foolhardy gamble on fourth down on their own 38-yard line failed, were the Dukes in real trouble in the last half. Fred Bogott ran to the Dixon 22 on the first play after Rock Falls was given the ball on downs, but the Dukes were saved further embarrassment when a penalty against the Rockets cancelled the play.

The Dukes had a chance to score shortly after Draper's long-distance shuffle, when a bad pass from center thwarted an attempted Rocket punt. Dixon recovered the ball on the Rock Falls four-yard line, then lost it two plays later on a faulty lateral pass.

Rock Falls Frosh-Sophs Win, 13-6

ROCK FALLS—The Rock Falls frosh-sophs scored in the second and fourth quarters here Friday night to defeat Dixon, 13-6.

Bob Hamill scored Dixon's only touchdown in the second quarter on a 15-yard dash through the middle of the Rock Falls line.

Jerry Brady, fleet Dixon half-back, scored on a 70-yard run in the third quarter with what appeared to be the leading touchdown, but the play was called back, and Dixon was assessed a pushing penalty.

Views of SPORTS

ROCK FALLS—Late in the third quarter of the frosh-soph game here Friday night a jet airplane startled the near-capacity homecoming crowd as it roared low over the Rockets' field.

Some two hours later, near the end of the third quarter of the varsity game, Kay Draper opened all the jets as he ran 77 yards in a sprint that should have had the blessing of a stop-watch.

NO ONE WILL ever know exactly how long it took him to cover that 77 yards. But it seemed he was across the Rocket goal before the crowd had time to gasp.

Draper appears to bring out the worst in the opposition. He was the target of the wrath of the DeKalb players when they stormed through Dixon's dressing room a couple of weeks ago, and he was on the receiving end of some fancy language from the Rock Falls players here Friday.

ALTHOUGH AN occasional mild oath may be permissible in a rough-and-tumble game like football, there was no excuse for the profane language directed by Draper and other Dixon players by some of the Rockets Friday night. Certainly there is no place for such language on a high school football field.

We have a hunch that Draper riles the opposition because he doesn't look like a football player. Because he's so slight and because he must wear horn-rimmed glasses even while playing, Draper looks more like a bookworm than a football player. Once he starts running, however, few will argue that he is out of place.

ALTHOUGH DRAPER'S run was the brightest note of the night let's say something about the punting of Tom Hufford at this point before it is forgotten.

Hufford has done an excellent job of kicking Dixon out of trouble all season, but his kicking was especially bright Friday. He booted five times and averaged an even 38 yards.

WATCH THE college statistics in the Sunday papers and see how often that figure is surpassed by college kickers. On an average Saturday it won't happen too often.

And speaking of statistics, once again the first-down figures showed Dixon on the short end of things. The Dukes picked up just two first downs—both in the second half. Rock Falls had seven.

FOR THE RECORD, that's just seven first downs in the last three games for Dixon. And the Dukes have scored six touchdowns on those seven first downs.

In the same three games—against DeKalb, Hall and Rock Falls—the opposition has gathered a total of 37 first downs and just four touchdowns.

"IT WAS A good one to win," Barnhart commented after the game. Perhaps he was thinking of those figures.

Barnhart was particularly pleased with the play of Don Spotts on defense.

"SPOTS FINALLY played the football he's capable of playing," said Barnhart.

Along with Spotts, Barnhart expressed special pleasure with the work of Hugh Burke and Jim Gorman in the Dixon line.

McDonald Scores 6 Times; Ohio Dumps Bureau, 46-14

OHIO—(Special)—Dave McDonald scored six touchdowns—one on a 99½ yard punt return—as Ohio walked over Bureau Township, 46-14, in a Little Eight conference football game here Friday night.

McDonald, who usually turns Ohio's scoring duties over to Full-back Steve Downey, counted on runs of 8, 12, 18 and 38 yards and also scored on a 21-yard pass tossed by T. J. Anderson.

Jerry Conner scored the seventh Ohio touchdown. Conner raced 64 yards with an intercepted pass.

Downey scored three extra points for Ohio, while sophomore speedster Gene Mitchell added the fourth.

Bureau scored on a 45-yard run by Munson and McDonald on a pass play that covered 14 yards with Mills scoring.

Curiously enough, Bureau piled up more first downs—16 to 13—than Ohio, and outscored the winners 245 yards to 236. But the winning Bulldogs hit on 10 of 13 passes attempted and intercepted four Bureau tosses, while the Bureau boys completed only four of 12.

The victory, coupled with Sheffield's overwhelming decision over Wyandot, gives Ohio undisputed possession of second place in the conference and makes the season's final game with undefeated Sheffield loom bigger than ever. This game is scheduled for Nov. 7.

Mt. Morris Shares Blackhawk Title

An Important Tackle for Dukes

GIL CONTRERAS, left, has just made one of the most important tackles of the night and the Dixon halfback shades his eyes as he views his handiwork. Contreras stopped the Rock Falls runner on the Dixon three-yard line early in the first quarter Friday night. Dixon repulsed the Rock Falls drive and went on to win, 12-6.

Clippers, Marcos Tie

Glenn Unger, Montavon in Top Roles

POLO — (Special) — Amboy and Polo battled through a scoreless last half here Friday night as the two teams tied, 13-13, in a renewal of a series between two old rivals that have not played in recent years.

The lead changed hands three times before the deadlock was achieved.

Unger Scores
Glenn Unger scored after a 30-yard run in the first period to give Polo a 6-0 margin.

But the Amboy Clippers came back in the same period as Don Carroll tossed to sophomore Arnold Scudder on a 40-yard touchdown play. The conversion was good and Amboy led, 7-6.

Glenn Unger scored again for Polo in the second quarter, this time on a 20-yard run, and Polo went ahead, 13-7 when a pass, Bud Brown to Roland Unger, was good.

Amboy Ties on Pass
Amboy tied the game in the same period, when Rich Montavon took a pitchout from Carroll and flipped a touchdown pass to Cliff Walters on a play that covered 49 yards.

The try for point failed and the scoring ended for the evening.

Polo also has to settle for a tie in the Blackhawk conference standings. Both Mt. Morris and Polo finished with 3-1 marks.

The score by quarters:
Polo 6-7-0-13
Amboy 7-6-0-13

Touchdowns: Polo, G. Unger; Amboy, Scudder, Walters.

Extra Points: Polo, R. Unger; Amboy, Montavon.

Ottawa Winner In NCIC

Ottawa thumped DeKalb, 20-0, to take undisputed possession of the Northern division football title in the North Central conference Friday night.

Sterling, with a 28-13 decision over Hall Township Friday, had to settle for second place, while Dixon finished in third place, a notch higher than last season.

Mendota Close

Mendota moved a step closer to the Southern division championship with a 33-6 win over Princeton.

Mendota and Rock Falls will play a postponed game on Tuesday to determine whether Mendota wins its third straight undisputed Southern division title or if the Trojans must share it this year with the Rockets.

Rochelle bopped Geneseo, 14-7, in the other Southern division contest Friday.

At DeKalb, Dick Shipman scored the touchdown that eventually meant the title for Ottawa when he sprinted across the DeKalb goal from the eight in the second quarter. Later scores were added on a 40-yard pass play from Bob Dekreon to Jim McGill and on a 21-yard pass from Dave Zwanzig to Pete Dekreon.

Glenn Aldefer scored Sterling's first three touchdowns against Hall in a game that was marred by fighting among the players. Three players from each team were excused from the game for fighting.

Klinge Leads Mendota
Walt Klinge led Mendota to at least a tie in the Southern division as he ran 65 and 80 yards to score and passed 40 yards to Jerry Hockstetter for a third touchdown. Jerry Wood scored the other two touchdowns for Mendota.

Albert Opsal ran 48 yards to set up Princeton's only touchdown in the last quarter.

At Rochelle, Galen Kruger passed to Ronnie Hill on a play that covered 44 yards to give Rochelle a 14-0 lead in the second quarter. Earlier, Don Schuler had scored for the Hubs after a long drive.

NEW YORK—A busy, fightamouth campaign was being mapped out today for Ezzard Charles following the former heavyweight champion's decisive triumph over game Cesar Brion of Argentina.

Determined to fight his way into another title shot, Ezzard will come back late next month against either Jimmy Bivans, Brion, or "anyone else we can get."

Oregon in First Win

LANARK — (Special) — Mert Sarber tossed two touchdown passes and Bob Hanes ran 40 yards for a third score here Friday night as Oregon won its first football game of the season, 20-13, over Lanark.

The victory helped Oregon jump halfway out of the cellar in the Blackhawk conference. Both Lanark and Oregon finished their seasons with 1-3 league records.

Oregon scored first on a pass from Sarber to End Leonard Jones on a play that covered 40 yards.

Another Sarber pass, this one in the third period to Jerry Young, covered 40 yards for the touchdown that put the Hawks in front for good. A few minutes later, Hanes added his touchdown run to clinch things for Coach Pat Holland's club.

Lanark scored early in the third quarter on a sleeper pass play and again in the final quarter on a pass.

The score by quarters:
Oregon 7-9-13-39
Lanark 0-0-7-13

Touchdowns: Oregon, Jones, Young, Hanes; Lanark, Hawbeck, Lotz.

Extra Points: Oregon, Bowers 2; Lanark, Miller.

Pro Leaders Picked to Win Sunday

NEW YORK—(A) A football is an elusive object that can bounce in any direction, and often does, but if it acts in line with past performances there will be no change among the leaders in the National Football League Sunday.

That means the unbeaten San Francisco 49ers will still be on top of the National Conference with five victories and the American Conference will remain in a three-way deadlock among the Cleveland Browns, Chicago Cardinals and the New York Giants.

Each has dropped one game. The surprising 49ers, sparked by rookie Hugh McElhenny, are 23-point favorites to whip the winless Dallas Texans at San Francisco.

The Browns are the 14½-point choice over Washington at Cleveland and are the Giants over the Philadelphia Eagles at New York. And the Cardinals figure to win by 12 points from the Pittsburgh Steelers, who have dropped all four of their starts by a total of only 16 points.

The other two games send Detroit against Green Bay and pit the Chicago Bears against the Los Angeles Rams, defending champions who have lost their winning touch. The Bears, Lions and Packers are tied for runner-up honors in the 49ers' division. Each has broken even in four games.

Lakers Trip Collegians

CHICAGO—The Minneapolis continued professional basketball's recent domination of the annual all-star game with a fancy 80-69 victory last night.

It was the pros' fourth victory in a row over the collegians and came despite a sub-par effort by the Lakers' great George Mikan and some sparkling play by a couple of the collegians, notably Dick Groat.

Mt. Carroll Victim in Vital Game

MT. CARROLL—(Special)—Derril Corbett is the toast of Mt. Morris football fans today.

Corbett staged one of the finest individual performances in Blackhawk conference history here Friday night as he scored all of his team's touchdowns to bring Mt. Morris a 27-13 victory and a tie with Polo for the Blackhawk conference championship.

Finish With 3-1
Both Polo and Mt. Morris finished the season with 3-1 records. Coach J. R. Worley, better known for his basketball teams in past years, thus brought Mt. Morris its first share of Blackhawk conference football title.

Corbett ran for touchdowns of 14, 33 and 54 yards. He also batted a Mt. Carroll pass into the air and raced 33 yards with the ball to score.

All told, he piled up 220 yards in 23 carries.

After three of Corbett's touchdowns, Harold Hanks kicked the extra point.

Score on Blocked Kick
Mt. Carroll scored in the second and third quarters, once by Saidal on an eight-yard runback of a blocked kick and again on a 20-yard jaunt by Weidman.

At other times the Mt. Morris defense was in control of the situation, making certain that Corbett's efforts weren't in vain.

The score by quarters:
Mt. Morris 7-7-6-27
Mt. Carroll 0-0-7-13

Touchdowns: Mt. Morris, Corbett 4; Mt. Carroll, Saidal, Weidman.

Kirkland Winner Over Ashton

KIRKLAND — Ashton lost, 38-26, in a Rainbow conference football game here Thursday night. It was the final game of the season for Ashton.

Howard McCracken scored three times for the Aces and Larry Butler scored the last Ashton touchdown.

Ashton led, 18-13, at halftime, but Kirkland rallied in the last half to win the game.

The score by quarters:
Ashton 12-6-0-24
Kirkland 6-7-13-6-32

Dixon Area Corn Pours to Market Here

THE NATION'S CORN harvest, tops in both quality and quantity, has plugged 80 per cent of inland marketing terminals, such as the Dixon Mills here. Trucks in the line pictured above await their turn to empty corn in the flood that is passing through the Dixon terminal daily. At right, a truckload of the golden grain, which is coming out of Lee county fields at the rate of 100 bushels to the acre, pours into the elevator here, which already has handled a record 200,000 bushels this season. The Dixon Mills, operated by Fred Conklin, dries between 10,000 and 12,000 bushels of corn a day. Moisture content before drying average between 19 to 22 per cent.

Sinnissippi Forest Hit Hard by Oak Disease; State Conducting Study

Foresters Attempt to Block Spread of Wilt All Over State

OREGON — More than 100,000 board feet of merchantable timber has been killed by oak wilt disease in Sinnissippi forest near Oregon. J. N. Spaeth, head of the forestry department at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that area is one of the most heavily concentrated oak forests in the state. About half of those trees were found to have the disease for the first time in 1951, Spaeth says. Fewer diseased trees were found this year, but the foresters don't know all the reasons nor what may happen in that area next year. Trees Removed Most of the 100,000 board feet of oaks killed there so far has been harvested out of the timber and sold. Spaeth points out that removing the diseased trees may have slowed the spread of the wilt disease to other healthy trees. So far oak wilt is found mostly in Northern Illinois. It may, however, become a menace all over the state unless means are found to control it. Foresters are particularly concerned because more than half of the 5,832 million board feet of merchantable timber in the state is oak. Large Area of Oak More than 90 per cent of the trees in the 1,600 acres of the Sinnissippi forest area is oak. The forest has been mapped and studied so thoroughly that it affords an excellent opportunity to study the wilt disease. Foresters still do not know all the ways in which oak wilt spreads from diseased to healthy trees. But they do know that one way is through adjoining roots. Study of the disease is continuing, and results will be made known as soon as they are ready.

Cantor is showing improvement and expects to resume his TV work Dec. 21.

Legion Leaders Seek Indiana Governorship

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (U)—A couple of American Legion leaders are slugging it out for the Indiana governorship.

Republican George M. Craig, first World War II national Legion commander, and Democrat John A. Watkins, former Indiana commander of the veterans' organization and now lieutenant governor, are the aspirants for the big red chair in the state capital.

Top GOP strategists seem convinced today that Craig will be elected Nov. 4. They figure the brown-haired, stocky lawyer will run as well as Dwight D. Eisenhower, their presidential nominee, if not better.

Demos Confident

Democratic leaders are publicly confident. But privately they say Watkins' chance to move up the ladder lies in his association with Gov. Henry F. Schricker, the party's nominee for U. S. Senator. Watkins is supremely confident. He declares Indiana voters won't turn down either Schricker or himself.

Forty-three-year-old Craig, who lives in Indianapolis, is making his first elective bid for state office.

Watkins, 53-year-old Bloomfield publisher, has been Indiana's lieutenant governor since 1949.

Craig has been centering his oratorical blasts on the Democratic national administration and Schricker, who is winding up four years in the Statehouse.

Watkins is running on the record of the Schricker administration. He accuses Craig of "ignorance" of state government operation.

One In 20

Indiana has elected only one Republican governor in the last 20 years. He was Ralph F. Gates, who served from 1945 to 1949. On the Democratic side, Schricker has had two terms. Paul V. McNutt and M. Clifford Townsend were the other Democratic chief executives.

The Indiana constitution prohibits a Governor from succeeding himself. So, whoever wins, a new chief executive will take over next Jan. 12.

GOP Asleep?

NEW YORK (U)—CIO President Philip Murray says "the Republican party, like Rip Van Winkle, has been asleep for 20 years."

Speaking Friday night in an ABC state radio network program recorded in advance, Murray said everything has changed in the 20 years since 1932 except "the Republican platform—a Hoover-Taft program for America."

An instrument now has been designed to record simultaneously the brightness and color of a star and at the same time show whether its light is polarized (vibrates more in one plane than another).

Judge Castle Supported by State Lawyers' Committee

A lawyers committee with statewide representation is supporting Judge Latham Castle, right, Republican candidate for attorney general. The chairman is Charles A. Bane, left, noted lawyer who resigned as counsel of the Chicago Council's crime investigating committee rather than permit a weakening of his efforts to clean out the gangsters.

Bane announced today that 163 prominent attorneys with various political affiliations, have joined the organizing committee which is working for Judge Castle in every county. Katharine D. Agar, former president of the Illinois Women's Bar Association, is secretary of the committee. Bane declared:

Eager for Change

"We want the voters to know that lawyers generally are eager to see a change in the attorney general's office and are particularly pleased that a man with the vigor, ability and courage of Judge Castle is opposing the incumbent. As chief law enforcing officer of the state, the attorney general must show initiative in representing all of the people and be willing to fight to rid Illinois of corruption and crime."

"Lawyers are familiar with Judge Castle's 25-year record in public service as a state's attorney, assistant attorney general

Board Asked to Investigate Charges of State Fair 'Fund'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—The Illinois board of state fair advisors was asked today to investigate charges that Governor Stevenson permitted kickbacks from the Illinois state fair to the Democratic party for campaign purposes.

The request for an investigation of the Illinois state fair was contained in an open letter sent by Morton H. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Illinois Republican State Central Committee, to Joseph Russell, Piper City, chairman of the Illinois board of state fair advisors.

The kickback charges were made last week by Ralph Ammon, former director of the Wisconsin state part of it went into the campaign fund.

Although these charges have been denied by Roy E. Yung, director of the department of agriculture, Hollingsworth said the accusations should be investigated.

Pointing out that it was in the agriculture department that the Stevenson horsemen scandal took place, Hollingsworth said there were several other things under the Yung administration that should be checked.

"When and if the operation of the state fair is investigated," Hollingsworth said, "I wish they would check into the following:

"Why was it necessary and how much was spent by Yung in remodeling three homes at the fair grounds for his own personal use?"

"Why did the state of Illinois pay for the Christmas party held by the department of agriculture last year after a collection was taken up among all of the employees to pay the cost of the party?"

Who Paid TV Cost?

"Who paid for the television set Yung received last Christmas?"

"Why the strange coincidence in drawing for a pony awarded to a Senator, Ill., child, reportedly a relative of Yung, on Children's day at the 1952 state fair?"

"Why Yung is permitting hunting dogs to be kennelled and trained at the fairgrounds?"

"Where can a record be found of official, published reports on the complete operations of the state fair for the years 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1952?"

France's TVA Project Opens

MONDRAGON, France (U)—France's "Little TVA" Project came officially to life today to pump two million kilowatt hours of electric power annually into the country's power-hungry industries.

The project harnesses the huge Rhone River 50 miles north of where it pours its muddy Alpine waters in the Mediterranean. It is a three-way installation, providing not only power but irrigation for tens of thousands of acres and a 19-mile canal to bypass a rough stretch of river that has interfered with navigation since Roman times.

It cost a quarter of a billion dollars, of which about 33 million dollars came directly or indirectly from Marshall Plan aid.

Inglewood War

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (U)—Inglewood, Calif., and Inglewood, N. J., are going to see which can get out a larger per cent of the vote Nov. 4.

The New Jersey city has 14,141 registered voters, and this California city 20,119. Inglewood's mayor, George C. England, accepted the challenge of Mayor Leslie Denning of Inglewood.

If Inglewood loses it will send on a box of snowballs. Inglewood, if defeated, will send a box of oranges.

Some persons who are color blind see all colors as gray, some cannot see blue or yellow, but most fail to see only red and green.

Hidden Treasures

Fortune Above the Clouds

From Cuzco, in Peru, cross the Andes ridge. Descend the Urubamba River for sixty miles. Then climb a zigzag trail up a cloud shrouded cliff. At the top, in the ruins of Machu Picchu is concealed the greatest treasure of the Incas, artfully hidden by priests to protect it from theft by Pizarro.

Maybe you might find it, or some other treasure hoard, but we have our doubts. Your surest way of building financial independence is a share savings account with this institution. Small amounts added each pay day soon make it grow into a worthwhile amount.

156 Voted in Cook County In First Vote

OTTAWA, Ill. (U)—Only 156 Cook County men voted in the first presidential election participated in by the county.

But in the same year, 1932, Morgan county in Southern Illinois had 2,229 voters, Madison 1,000, Sangamon 1,845, Greene 1,035, and Vermilion 789.

The information is contained in a work edited by the late Theodore Calvin Pease—Illinois Election Returns for 1818 to 1948.

Illinois was admitted to the union in 1818.

In the 1832 election, Democrat Andrew Jackson, running for reelection, defeated Whig candidate Henry Clay, who was making his second try for the office. The third candidate was William Wirt, who ran on an anti-Mason platform.

Jackson carried Morgan, Madison, Sangamon, Greene and Vermilion counties by good majorities.

But Cook County went for Clay, 80 to 76. In 1948 Cook County was earned by President Truman, 1-216,636 to 1,015,600 for Republican candidate Thomas Dewey.

Such populous counties as Kane, Will, Winnebago, Rock Island, DuPage and Lake had not been organized in 1832.

Other totals of that year: Calhoun County 39, Alexander 33, LaSalle 44, Knox 73, Hancock 81, Warren 101, Marion 203, Putnam 147 and St. Clair 773.

Truman Proclaims Armistice Day

WASHINGTON (U)—President Truman, in the last Armistice Day proclamation he will issue as Chief Executive, called on Americans to devote themselves anew to "the task of promoting a permanent peace among all the people of the earth."

Asking the people and all government agencies to observe Tuesday, Nov. 11, as a day of "hope and promise," the President said Friday:

"Renewed acts of aggression have stressed the need for a spiritual rededication to the ideal of lasting peace."

The earliest foot race was a 200-yard dash, an event of the Greek Olympics games, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Sentenced for Life!

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (U)—At the suggestion of the presiding magistrate, Harry Ridenour, 37, proposed to his girl friend in Police Court Friday.

She said yes.

Harry was brought before Magistrate Paul Ottinger on an assault warrant after Miss Irene Kendall, who filed the complaint, lost four front teeth in a tavern fracas.

Harry went to the tavern to get his girl friend, Elizabeth Carbaugh, who was with Miss Kendall, it was testified. Elizabeth had broken a dinner date with Harry to go to the tavern with Miss Kendall.

Magistrate Ottinger told Ridenour he had no right to get tough with Miss Carbaugh, since they weren't married.

"Why don't you marry her?"

"Never thought to ask," replied Harry. Then he turned to Elizabeth.

"Would you marry me?"

"Why, yes, Harry," she said.

The judge ordered Ridenour to pay Miss Kendall's $60 dental bill, and the case was closed.

SALE—HOUSEHOLD GOODS

THE BEST OF THE WURST—Geoffrey Wight, 2, of Joliet, Ill., thinks this giant Thuringer sausage makes a fine steed. The huge hunk of sandwich meat is 20 feet long, one foot in diameter, and is on display at the American Meat Institute's annual convention in Chicago.

SHE INSURES BEAUTY—Lilly Condon takes time out at a Las Vegas, N. M., swimming pool for a breath-taking stretch. Lilly, who is a dancer, has decided to insure those long, lovely legs for $100,000.

POLICE GET FAST BUCK—This 120-pound buck gives police a saucy razzberry as he is hauled by paddy wagon to his home on Belle Isle sanctuary, at Detroit, Mich. It took eight squad cars of police to capture the animal, when he swam away from his island home.
